Summer 2020
How and why this summer will be different from past summers.

by Rebecca Birch
Ramah Darom has announced that campers and staff will not be able to come together in our special community in Georgia this summer.
The decision was made with the help of doctors and other professionals.
Germs can spread quickly in big groups like camp. To help keep all of us healthy they have decided to close camp for the summer.
I may feel sad, angry, confused, frustrated, or disappointed that camp has been cancelled. It is ok to feel this way.
I can talk to my family and friends about how I am feeling.
Not knowing what this summer will look like can be hard. This change is very unexpected.
If I start to feel sad and miss camp, I can look at pictures from past summers, watch old camp videos, and call a friend.
Although we won’t be together at camp this summer, we will find ways to see each other. Like on Facebook and Zoom. Just because we are not together doesn’t mean we can’t continue to be friends!
